Francis frequently visited here, this being his mother's (formerly Miss Retta Clark) girlhood home, and he always attracted attention because of his polite manner and bright ways. He was a little gentleman and was a more than ordinarily attractive child. The blow falls with almost crushing force on the parents and relatives who have the sincere sympathy of many friends, who too, mourn the death of little Francis.

FRANKOWSKI, Bernard - Father time finally arrived for Bernard Frakowski on May 6, 2010, while he was out mowing his lawn. Although he will be greatly missed we take comfort in knowing that at long last his wish of joining his beloved Frieda has come true.

Bernard and Frieda were married on September 24, 1954, they loved and supported each other until Frieda's passing in 2002, an event from which he never fully recovered.

Bernard was well educated by life and experience. He loved his trees, feeding the birds and any stray animal that wandered into his yard. Although he could be stubborn and at times cantankerous he lived his life full and on his own terms. He was recycling long before it became popular to do so, he grew wonderful fruits and vegetables and took great pride in sharing his bounty. Hobbies ranged from reading and sitting on the porch, to marathon walks; but he mostly enjoyed his time in the out doors.

Bernard was a hard working, dedicated family man. He began working at the Farm Bureau, and during his lifetime worked as truck driver hauling steel, he retired from Weir-Cove in the early nineties.

Bernard was also a Veteran of the U.S. Army having served 2 tours during WWII, first with the Reconnaissance Company 628th Tank Destroyer Battalion, second tour with the 82nd Airborne Division as a Parachuter.

Bernard was born on May 20, 1925 in Lafferty, Ohio, son of the late Stanley and Catherine Frakowski. In addition to his parents he was also preceded in death by numerous siblings.

Bernard is survived by his daughter, Pamela and he husband Dr. Firooz Ravangard, grandsons Dr. Sam Ravangard, Darius Ravangard, and granddaughter Ariyan Ravangard all of Utica, NY; a brother Stanley Frakowski of St. Clairsville, OH, special brother-in-laws, Donald Vigoffi and his wife Loretta, and Harold Vigoffi and his wife Lana.

Visitation for Bernard will be held on Sunday, May 9 from 2-4 p.m. at the J.E. Foster Funeral Home in Toronto, Ohio, followed by his funeral service at 4 p.m. Military honors will be presented following the service at the funeral home by the Toronto American Legion Post #86. Bernard will be buried in the Union Cemetery in St. Clairsville, Ohio.

Bernard's family would like you thank his wonderful and caring neighbors, Ruth and Chuck Campbell and Greg and Jana Dunlop who so kindly watched over him in his twilight years.

Freeman, Gary D.

Harry D. "Abe" Freeman

1931-2010

A good day to Harry Freeman found him driving his motor boat down the Muskingum River, racing family and friends. He'd put in at McConnellsville, have his sunglasses on, along with a big grin, and head down through all the locks to the Ohio River. Other days he'd boat around the Dillon Dam, enjoying a happy carefree day.

Described as caring, with a big heart, the man who "looked out for everybody" passed away Tuesday evening February 16, 2010 in Knox Community Hospital of Mount Vernon. He was 79.

Abe was nicknamed for his President's Day birthday: February 12, 1931. He was born in Belmont to Harry J. and Ethel (Taylor) Freeman, and was graduated from Belmont High School.

He served with the U.S. Army, stationed in Germany during the Korean War, and though he attended The Ohio State University, Abe went to work with the railroads. He served as a dispatcher with the B&O Railroad, working mostly from their Butler depot, but often traveling the line to Mansfield station behind the steel mill, or south to Dover. He worked more than 40 years with the railroads, both the B&O and later Chessie Systems.

Stationed at the Butler depot, Abe met the young restaurant owner of the Clear Fork Inn. She knew the way to a man's heart was through his stomach, and Billie Keesee's packed lunches for Abe resulted in a marriage proposal. The two were married March 5, 1968 in Chicago.

Long before the Richland Mall became bricks and mortar, Abe operated Harry's Pure Oil, a "76" filling station on the southwest corner of Fourth Street and Lexington-Springmill Road. Most all of his kids got a chance to work the pumps, and share in knowledge of running a family business.

Abe was an avid sports fan, notably of the Cleveland Browns, Indians and Cavaliers, as well as his alma mater's Ohio State Buckeyes. He had amassed an impressive train collection, but will be better remembered for his loving personality, loving kids and being available.

He is survived by his wife, Billie; sons and daughters-in-law, Kevin (Ruth) Freeman of Uniontown, Kurt (Lois) Freeman of Bellville, Wayne (Pat) Ousley, Russ (Lynn) Ousley, and Danny Ousley all of Butler; a daughter, Sharon Fulton of Butler; 14 grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren, including Courtney and Brooklyn Fulton and one on the way; sisters and brothers-in-law, Nina Westmoreland of Corpus Christi, Texas, Naomi (John) Booth of Bethesda, and Judy (John) Lonberger of Ft. Smith, Ark.; a brother and sister-in-law, Larry (Mary) Freeman of Columbus; and numerous nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by brothers and sisters, Paul Freeman, Ellen Freeman, Charles Freeman, Wright Freeman, Robert Freeman and Ruby Freeman.

The Freeman family received friends Friday, February 19, 2010 at the Bellville Snyder Funeral Home, and also until the time of service on Saturday, February 20. Pastor Ken Kinley officiated, and burial followed in Mansfield Memorial Park, where American Legion Post #535 held graveside military honors. Contributions in his memory to the Worthington Township-Butler Rescue Squad may be made at the funeral home. Condolences may be sent to: www.snyderfuneralhomes.com
